To the Editor of the National Era :
The House of Assembly have passed a resolution are prepared to guaranty a loan of twenty-eight millions of dollars for the completion of a line from Halifax, passing through New Brunswick, Quebec; and the conditions which have been agreed upon by the three Provinces are, that the line to the latter city shall be constructed on joint account, and at their mutual risk; ten miles only, where an exception of a force required by the Government is prominent. These exceptions are to be withdrawn and to be replaced by a body of pensioners—discharged soldiers of good character—who are to be stationed at different posts throughout the Province, to be clothed, armed, and maintained at the expense of the Civil Government.

This bill has been brought in, and passed after a factious opposition, which proves for the employment of these men as a police force, to be the best and the most economical for the public safety, and to be paid while actually employed, and to the companies requiring their aid, it being intended that this is the entering wedge of a force by which the colonies would, at no distant date, be required to defray the expense of such military establishment as might be required for

While Upper Canada has its clergy reserves, it is not so much inclined to disturb the minds of the adherents of the voluntary principle, the Lower Province is agitated by the Signiorato tenure question; and, to investigate which a committee was appointed by the House of Assembly, during the last ses-understand this question, and one so novel for the present age, it will be as well to premise the object of granting these seigniories was to settle the Province. But in 1711 Louis XIV, fearing that such had not been the result, issued an arrêt, which had the force of law, ordaining that at the expiration of one year the seigneur had not cleared his lands nor established any other useful buildings, the land should be and himself of a grasping, ambitious, and unprincipled character, bent on the acquisition of wealth and power, should we not feel justified in claiming equal privileges for all honest worshippers or the repeal of those so exclusively enjoyed? But you would hardly be willing to grant this space, Mr. Editor, to discuss the question of Clergy Reserves.

It is of the Rectories, the opposition to which is according to your countryman, the petitioned with all their strength against it. The first objection of the People then is, that the offices were obtained by a fraud. Is it a great deal to ask that as one by one they are left vacant, they should be restored to the Province? The error assumed a prerogative to which he has right when he granted them. The dissatisfaction which ensued was one great cause of the Rebellion of 1837; and the present Government went office pledged to abolish the Reserve and Reserve, but they have not been able to accomplish it. Had they been legislating for Upper Canada alone, no doubt they would have succeeded.

You will perhaps wonder, Mr. Editor, that the forbearance of England, the Canadian Declaration might have been printed before this the British Crown learned a lesson from a cer-

General Borrero, at the head of one thousand men, had raised the standard of rebellion in Medellin, and was every day receiving large reinforcements to his forces. The artillery battalion of this city left to-day, and the infantry are under marching orders to leave at any hour. We fear that withdrawing the troops from this, the most important post of the country, will but tend to cause the immediate outbreak of the revolution here. The militia are called out, and the last day of the month will see the departure of the amuse the public by a show of apparent patriotism, but a serious and honest endeavor to overthrow an administration which, under the guise of a liberal interpretation of republican institutions, has been guilty of acts which would disgrace a despotism. I have no bias of party, but I do think it were not in the spirit of man to leave such impositions as have been practiced by the so-called Liberals towards the Conservatives. A similar instance occurred in the Province of Antioquia

THE BUFFALO FUGITIVE.

Mr. Rnet, who knocked the alleged slave Dan iel down, and then claimed him as a fugitive,

We are glad that the subject is to be disposed of by a higher tribunal than that created by the fugacious law itself, and that there will be some chance at least for justice and law to be heard.

A spirited discussion arose on the report of R. P. Ranney; Mr. Vance thought ultra—too much of a party man. Mr. Ranney believed him reliable. After much discussion was taken, and resulted in his nomination a fair majority.

The question next came up on agreement of nomination of Judge Storer, which elicited warm discussion. He was opposed by Moore, and Vance, and supported by Root, and Snodden. Grand jury taken

For Asthma, Shortness of Breath, and other pulmonary affections, it may be pronounced a positive cure.
